

I am very happy to be registered on the Wisconsin "Do-Not-Call" list, which has stopped perhaps 20 telemarketing calls per week. These people were calling constantly interrupting our dinner hour and even on Sundays. I do not wish to allow more companies to call me to badger me to buy their credit cards.

Even now some banks abuse the Wisconsin law. They have called to say "We are calling to confirm that your account is current" and then follow up with "How would you like to apply for a loan, apply for our credit cards, etc." This is very annoying.
